LAUNCH OF HUGE ROCKET IS POSTPONED

Opposed To TVA Buying Land

The following article was taken from the Lakeside Ledger, weekly newspaper published in Edgelyville, Kentucky and is being reprinted here for the interest of Ledger and Times readers.

An organizational meeting of residents of Lyon and Trigg counties in Kentucky and Stewart County, Tennessee who are opposed to TVA acquiring land without consent of the owner is being planned in the very near future according to word received here Tuesday from Trigg County Chamber of Commerce members.

Kentucky Hotel or Kentucky Dam Village has been suggested as the meeting place with time and date of meeting to be announced later.

The fight is being spearheaded by Trigg County Chamber of Commerce who went on record as far back as June 1963 as opposing private land acquisition without the owners consent for use as a park.

The Trigg Chamber contends that the Federal Government already owns enough land in the 67,000 acre refuge between the rivers to develop all the recreational facilities presently needed; that after this is developed and the need arises for additional facilities then the private land might be acquired.

One factor underlying these protests is that each of these three counties is facing a devastating loss of revenue under present TVA land acquisition policies with the "in lieu of taxes" payments still uncertain.

Still another is the moral side of the issue—good citizens will be deprived of their homes and business against their will to make way for a playground for others.

Firemen Are Called Today To House Fire

Firemen were called to the home of Frank Pace this morning on Chestnut street. The entire attic area seemed to be in flames when firemen arrived on the scene with the Ford truck and the large white truck was quickly called to the scene.

The home was saved although extensive damage was done to the roof, smoke and water damage was severe to the contents of the home although apparently none of it was damaged by the fire itself.

Booster lines from the two trucks were brought into play by the firemen who broke out the ventilator in front of the house to get to the flames. Other firemen mounted the roof of the house and chopped through the roof to reach the fire.

A line was attached to the tank of the Ford truck from the city water supply, however the large capacity of the white truck was sufficient for the fire.

90th Birthday Is Observed By Mrs. Ola Walston Friday

Mrs. Ola Walston of Almo celebrated her 90th birthday Friday, January 24, at her home. She is the daughter of the late John David and Sarah Barnett. She married Gus Walston September 23, 1893, and he passed away May 5, 1932.

"Mrs. Ola" is the mother of twelve children, three of whom are deceased. Those living are six sons: Virgil, Max, Goebel, Jim, Milton, and Tom; and three daughters, Mrs. Henry Burken, Mrs. Gaylon Trevathan, and Mrs. Jack Dodd.

There are sixteen grandchildren, sixteen great grandchildren. All of them live in Calloway County except one granddaughter and her family and one great granddaughter and her family.

The ninety year old lady became a member of the Brooks Chapel Methodist Church at the age of thirteen. She had been a very active woman until about one year ago. She enjoyed sewing and reading until her eyesight failed. She loves people and enjoys her neighbors, both white and colored, visiting her.

Some of Mrs. Walston's descendants have been in Almo School as students or teachers each year since 1917 when she moved across the bottoms to the other side of the farm. She still lives on part of the farm on which she was born and raised.

The telephone has been a great source of pleasure to her enabling her to keep in daily contact with her children. Mrs. Walston did her own housekeeping for herself and son, Goebel, who lives with her, until about one year ago. Now she looks forward to which of her other children is coming daily to minister to her needs.

She appreciated the many telephone calls and cards she received from her relatives and friends this past week to help her celebrate her 90th birthday.

Callers in her home in addition to her close relatives the latter part of the week were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Smith, Rev. and Mrs. Layne Shanklin, Hershey Hopkins, a nephew, and Mrs. Chantrell Jones who brought her a beautiful potted plant from the Brooks Chapel Methodist Church.

Mrs. Walston said she attributes her long life to God, three meals a day, rising early each day, and the love of her children.

SNAKE BITE FATAL

SALT LAKE CITY, (UPI) — Jerry De Bary, curator at the Salt Lake Zoo, died today from a bite of a deadly snake, suffered Saturday night while cleaning the reptile's cage.

De Bary, 37, a man who handled poisonous reptiles for 10 years at the zoo without incident, had been in "very critical" condition since being attacked by the puff adder.

The two-foot, grayish brown snake struck after De Bary became dizzy and braced his hand on the side of the inside of the cage.

His wife, Kay, was one of the first persons at his side after the snake struck. She brought antivenom, or snake serum, from the family home to the zoo.

A passerby administered the serum and De Bary was rushed to the hospital.

Harry Sparks Will Be Last Superintendent To Be Elected If His Program Proves Successful

FRANKFORT, January 27 — Dr. Harry M. Sparks, Kentucky's new superintendent of public instruction, will be the last elected one, if he has his way.

One of Dr. Sparks' specific goals is to obtain approval by the current State Legislature of a bill to make the office appointive and not elective.

"I will promote passage in the Legislature of an amendment whereby members of the State Board of Education will be elected by popular vote on a non-partisan ballot," he said. "They would then choose a commissioner of education to serve as their executive officer."

Seven Board members now are appointed by the Governor, usually from various sections of the state.

Dr. Sparks' plan already has been endorsed by the Kentucky Education, School Administrators, Parent-Teachers, and School Boards associations.

"In the last 10 years," he added, "11 states have adopted this plan to keep public education out of politics as much as possible. Our neighbor state of Ohio is changing now. The new concept puts educational leadership in the hands of truly professional administrators, plus a direct relationship with representatives responsible to the people."

He plans no immediate major reorganization in the Department of Education. Whatever changes are made will be done after a study in which Department personnel will discuss meaning "whereby we can serve the state more effectively. We will determine what services we should offer and the type of organization to most efficiently provide these services."

This planning will incorporate recommendations made by the New York consulting firm of Gressip, McCormick and Pageant in a study made last spring. It was authorized by the Governor's Commission of Public Education.

Technical Difficulty Delays 16 Story Saturn-1 Firing

By ALVIN R. WEBB Jr., United Press International

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — A stream of technical troubles today forced a two-day postponement in the planned launching of America's most powerful space rocket, the 16-story tall Saturn-1, on its first orbital voyage.

The federal space agency said the launching, which would put the world's heaviest satellite into orbit, was postponed for 10 a. m. (EST) Wednesday—one day before the United States hopes to launch a Ranger-6 probe to take the first close-up photographs of the moon.

The Saturn-1 troubles started about dawn today and a series of "minor technical difficulties" delayed the countdown for 45 minutes.

About mid-morning, technicians ran into a serious problem with a liquid oxygen vent valve on the 1½-million pound thrust booster stage. The difficulty took hours, and could not be solved in time to meet a launch schedule today.

In addition to repairing the faulty valve, mission men also faced the task of scrubbing out the Saturn propellant tanks which had been loaded with nearly a million pounds of fuel-kerosene and liquid oxygen.

The shot has attracted the most attention given to any U. S. space attempt since the 22.9 orbit flight of astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr. from Cape Kennedy eight months ago.

National television networks were standing by to transmit the thunderous launching of the 16-story, 562-ton rocket when today's postponement was announced. They also hoped to show pictures taken from the rocket.

Scientists first had trouble with a small liquid oxygen leak in the second stage of the 164-foot, 562-ton rocket.

This was repaired but then trouble developed with an oxygen valve in the booster stage.

Scientific fingers rested on switches that would bring the gleaming giant — taller than the Statue of Liberty, heavier than eight railroad boxcars — to life in the opener of a space doubleheader bearing heavily on the nation's $20 billion drive to conquer the moon this decade.

About two miles to the east, other scientists readied a silver Atlas Agena rocket for a planned attempt Thursday to send a Ranger-6 probe on a 240,000-mile expedition to get the first closeup pictures of the moon.

The 16-story, 562-ton Saturn-1 was at stage center today as the biggest space-show "bull" since the 22.9-orbit flight of astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr. nearly eight months ago. Television viewers hoped for a chance to glimpse space itself through a camera "eye" it carried along.

A small liquid oxygen leak discovered early today in the second stage of the huge rocket forced more than an hour's delay past the scheduled launching time.

The television cameras were attached to Saturn's revolutionary second stage — the 84-foot long, 19-ton section that scientists hoped would soar into orbit as the heaviest main-made satellite.

The satellite portion also qualified for the title of "flying junkpile" on the basis of its anatomy — an empty nose cone, tons of burned out rocket casing, 11,500 pounds of sand shipped in from Florida's Gulf coast, and an undetermined number of polystyrene balls.

The orbit was expected to be brief — a few days at best — albeit spectacular. Under ideal conditions, officials said, the second stage should appear as brilliant as a bright star in the sky.

EDUCATE NAGS

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — In Kentucky, a "high school horse" is one suspected of being able to read because he wins most often when the odds are great.

DR. HARRY M. SPARKS
Kentucky Superintendent of Public Instruction

was designation of bureau heads as assistant superintendents in charge of these bureaus.

These included Samuel M. Alexander, Valley Station, already an assistant superintendent, who heads administration and finance; Don C. Hale, Hardyville, instruction; E. P. Hilton, Greensburg, vocational education; and Ben F. Coffman, Slaghters, rehabilitation services.

In praising the "splendid job" in leadership of Kentucky education by his predecessor, Wendell P. Butler, Dr. Sparks also expressed his appreciation for Butler's cooperation in the change-over.

Dr. Sparks served as an assistant superintendent for six weeks before assuming the top position.

"This has been most helpful to me in making a smooth transition," he said.

The new superintendent brings to the State's No. 1 educational post over 30 years of experience — 15 in teaching and administration on the secondary and elementary level and 15 more on the college level. He was president of the K. E. A. in 1959-60 and also has served as chairman of its Teacher Educa-

Eastern Has OVC Standing To Rest On After Defeat

by United Press International
Eastern Kentucky's Maroons could console themselves for an 80-60 weekend thrashing by Louisville today by looking at the Ohio Valley Conference standings, where they hold an undisputed, if narrow, lead.

While Eastern was taking its non-conference hiding at Louisville, its two closest challengers in the OVC — Morehead and East Tennessee — were having their own troubles with OVC opponents.

Morehead, especially ran into difficulties, starting a two-game swing into western Kentucky with an unbeaten conference mark only to lose both games, at Western Kentucky Thursday night and at Murray Saturday night, by a resounding 102-89 score.

East Tennessee also came a cropper, taking an 88-62 beating from Tennessee Tech.

All that leaves Eastern in the lead with a 3-1 conference mark. Morehead, Tennessee Tech and East Tennessee sharing second at 3-2, and Murray fifth at 4-3.

Eastern appeared well on its way to beating Louisville twice in the same season for the first time since 1946 when the cold-shooting Cardinals fell behind, 33-25, at halftime.

Early in the second half, however, Louisville suddenly went into a three-quarter press that quickly upset and soon demoralized the Maroons.

Time after time the Cards stole the ball from Eastern, usually springing Ron Rooks loose for driving lay-ups, as the Cards outscored the befuddled Maroons, 26-3, over one span of 7½ minutes.

Harold Sargent racked up 36 points for Morehead at Murray, but Jim Jennings and Gene Pendleton each had 24 for Murray to send the Eagles down to their second straight defeat.

In the KMAC, Bellarmine's streaking Knights made it eight in a row and ran their conference mark to a league-leading 7-1 with a 69-66 overtime victory at Transylvania.

Villa Madonna, upset at Pikeville Friday night, came back to whip Union at Barbourville, 80-74 and tie the Bulldogs for second place in the KMAC standings. Bellarmine is 7-1 in the league. Union and Villa Madonna 5-2.

Fourth-place Georgetown defeated tallend Berea, 99-81, with Dick Vories hitting 31 points and Cecil Tuttle 24.

Tonight's Kentucky college schedule is a slim one. Campbellville playing at Ft. Knox and Tennessee State at Kentucky State.

Sweet Victory Tasted By MSC Racers As Morehead Downed

Sweet victory came the way of the Murray State Racers Saturday night when they bumped a strong Morehead team out of a three way OVC tie. The Thoroughbreds broke 100 to hand the Eagles a 102-89 defeat.

The Racers went into an early lead in the ball game, running their margin up to 12 points at one time, 26-14 as John Nanciu split the net with 11:30 left in the first half. Morehead, came back in a rush however as the Racers went stone cold and by the halftime the Eagles ran up a 44-42 lead.

A hot Murray State team hit the floor in the second half however and quickly regained the lead. The Racers held a lead of one point to five points for most of the second half, then with five minutes to go, the Racers poured it on.

Morehead was never in the game after Murray established the fact that they were in command of the ball.

Cool Harold Sargent was non-plussed by the Racers' test however and continued to lead from all corners of the court. Murray ended the game with their largest margin of the night, 13 points.

The win Saturday gave Murray State a 4-3 conference record and an overall standing of 9-7. Morehead dropped to a 3-2 OVC record with a season record of 6-4.

Gene Pendleton and Jim Jennings each hit for 24 points as Pendleton turned in his finest performance of the year. The Racers as a team also turned in what is considered as their best game of the season.

Jennings grabbed 14 rebounds for the Racers. Morehead topped Murray's efforts with 45 rebounds to 43. Stu Johnson played a bang-up game for Murray, pushing through 19 points, fouling out in the final seconds.

Scott Schlosser added 18 points to the Murray effort and Nanciu 12. The crowd cheered Al Varnas' appearance on the floor, the first last week. Some apprehension was noted when Nanciu got a finger in the eye, cutting an area just inside the eye but not injuring the eye itself.

Personal fouls: Morehead, Sargent 3, Atkin 5, Ware 2, Martin 4, Castle 2, Hoover 5, Clark 2, Murray, Jennings 3, Johnson 5, Nanciu 3, Pendleton 4, Schlosser 3, Varnas, Goheen 2, Walker.

Attendance: 7,000.

Woman's World

Dear Abby . . .

Betwixt and Between!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I can't eat anything that has garlic in it. It makes me violently ill. Over the years I have been invited frequently to dine at the home of a long-time friend. She knows I can't eat anything with garlic in it, but every time I am there she has garlic in practically everything. When she sees me take a whiff and then pass something up, she says, "Oh, I forgot!" The last time this happened I lost my temper and replied, "After 22 years!" She then said, "I can't cook a special meal for you. Besides, everyone else seems to like my cooking." I don't want to end my friendship with her because she entertains nicely and has some very interesting guests (artists and musicians). So how should I handle this problem in the future?

HATES GARLIC.
LIKES PARTIES.

DEAR HATES: Your friend obviously doesn't care to go to extra trouble for you. Either decline her dinner invitations and accept for "later," or ask permission to bring a box lunch.

DEAR ABBY: I read in the paper where a man in California said that women who wore slacks on the street should be fined. You tell him to go jump in the lake! Women don't look any worse in slacks than men look in Bermuda shorts. Some have knobby knees, and others are bow-legged and as hairy as apes. I am a 59-year old woman with arthritis, and my doctor told me to keep my legs warm, so I wear slacks every chance I get. And anybody who doesn't like it doesn't have to look. Sign me—

College High FHA Has Two Projects

The Murray College High School Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America is planning to carry out two service projects for the school and the community.

One of the projects is making favors, which will be placed on trays of patients in the Murray Hospital. The theme of the favors will be Valentine. The club members will design and construct the favors at special meetings.

The second project of the Future Homemakers is to join the Murray College High Beta Club in setting up an information booth in the lobby of the school building. The purpose of the booth will be to aid visitors in finding their way around the school building. This booth will begin operation shortly after the beginning of the second semester of school. Members of both clubs will take part in running the booth. Information will be available on the time and place of class meetings. Although complete information will not be available when the booth first opens, it will be obtained as quickly as possible.

HARRY SPARKS . . .

West Kentucky School Administrators Association. In addition to his years of experience in many areas and levels of education, he obviously brings an abundance of determination to his new position.

Just one example illustrates his determination. His left leg was broken Thanksgiving Day. With son Phillip, 20, a Murray sophomore, he was on a three-day camping trip in Rockcastle County to hunt and fish. He slipped on the bank of Rockcastle River, and the leg was pinned under him.

Dr. Sparks crawled to his camp and managed to negotiate the short distance back to camp. And he cooked supper, lying on his side.

Next morning, father and son, sleeping under a cliff-awakened to three inches of snow. Dr. Sparks spent much of the day making his own spout from a small sapling. Saturday, they got back to their car, eight miles from the accident, about 3 p.m. And Dr. Sparks drove most of the 170 miles back to Murray, where his broken leg was x-rayed and set on Sunday morning.

Dr. Sparks' conversation and speech reflect his rare sense of humor. He has been much in demand for several years, as a public speaker.

Mrs. Sparks is the former Miss Lois Stiles of Irvington. They have another son, Harry Jr., 23, a junior in architecture at the University of Cincinnati, and a daughter, Susan, 17, a high school senior.

Baptists Let Contract For 48 Room Lodge

A contract of $453,065 has been let for the construction of a 48 room hotel-type lodge at Cedarmore Assembly, according to an announcement by Harold G. Sanders, executive secretary of the Kentucky Baptist Convention, Middletown.

P. W. Owens and Associates, Inc., of Louisville, was awarded the contract which calls for completion in late July of this year. Initial occupants will be the first annual Kentucky Baptist Youth Conference the week of August 3-7.

Cedarmore Baptist Assembly is located on Dragon Lake in Shelby County, and is being developed as a year-around assembly and conference center for Baptist churches of Kentucky. Present facilities care for 262 persons during the summer and 80 in the winter. When the lodge is completed, it will be available for year-around use by church groups.

The lodge will include 48 bedrooms sleeping four persons each, plus nine conference rooms, kitchen, terrace, and dining room seating 250. A second unit will be added later of 48 more bedrooms and additional conference rooms. The air-conditioned building will be constructed of western cedar trimmed with native stone, and will feature a folded-plate roof of prefabricated plywood.

John Kruschwitz of Versailles, chairman of the Cedarmore committee, announced that the next major expansion will be R. A. and G. A. outdoor camps on adjacent sites. These camps are included in the current Christian Education Advance campaign of $6 million. Their pro rata share is $316,000.

A contract was also signed this week for a three acre auxiliary water supply lake. The Jeffersonson Asphalt and Bulldozing Service, Jeffersonson, got the $9,436 award.

These improvements mark the start of a long-range development program to make Cedarmore Assembly one of the outstanding religious conference centers in the country. A master plan was developed by Braun and Ryan, architects, with E. W. Neel and Associates as consulting engineers. Future plans include enlargement of the present outdoor tabernacle and the construction of a chapel, childcare center, infirmary, service station, grocery store, family camp sites, and a youth camp.
